Photographs by Paul Wainwright

December 6th, 2005 - January 14th, 2006

Gallery talk December 8th at 3 pm

Reception with the artist, Thursday December 15th, 6 - 8 pm

Paul Wainwright will be showing his photographs of landscapes and interior architectural details of abandoned 19th century buildings at Panopticon Gallery in Waltham. Wainwright states that his "...natural landscapes usually evolve from a feeling of wonderment or beauty, and my 19th century architecture work most often springs from a feeling of mystery or emptiness. I am drawn to photograph the interiors of 19th century buildings. I am drawn by the diaries of my great grandfather, and I am fascinated by the differences - and the similarities - of life from that age to the present.

Wainwright works in the large format traditions of Ansel Adams, Edward Weston, and Paul Strand. The images in this exhibition include interpretive images of the natural landscape and architectural interiors that are literal in their renderings while simultaneously contemplative and quiet.

Wainwright is a native of New Hampshire. He is a member of the Cambridge Art Association, the New Hampshire Artists Association and the New Hampshire Society of Photographic Artists. He graduated with a Ph.D. from Yale University and spent many years in research at Bell Laboratories. He retired early to pursue his passion with photography.

Paul Wainwright will present a gallery talk on Thursday, December 8th at 3pm. The public is invited to attend. A reception with the artist will take place on Thursday evening, December 15th from 6 to 8 pm.

The exhibition runs through January 14th. For more information and for press photos, please contact the gallery. Visit our virtual gallery at: www.panopt.com
